REFINED PETROLEUM PRODUCTS

1960-65

DOMINION BUREAU OF STATISTICS

Industry and Merchandising Division

I M P O R T A N T

During the year it has been necessary to make certain revisions in the monthly figures already published as a result of later information received from respondent firms.

This supplement gives in detail the revised figures for each month on production, inventories and disposition, including net sales of finished petroleum products, etc. However, special attention is drawn to the recorded figures for Net Sales of Motor Gasoline, Kerosene, Stove Oil and Tractor Fuel, Diesel Fuel, Light Fuel and Heavy Fuel shown for the Maritimes and the province of Quebec. Some irregularities were incorporated in the Net Sales figures for the products mentioned in these two areas and because of the unavailability of revised data it was impossible to affect adjustments necessary to correct this situation. The combined sales for these areas are generally assumed to be correct.

In addition, this supplement gives data for the entire year on crude oil receipts, raw materials supply and imports by provinces as compiled from customs' entries by the External Trade Section of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

During the year it has been necessary to make certain revisions in the monthly figures already published as a result of later information received from the respondent firms. This supplement gives in detail the revised figures for each month on production, inventories and disposition, including net sales of finished petroleum products. In addition it gives data incorporating revisions month by month and for the entire year on crude oil receipts and raw materials supply. Also included are imports of petroleum products, by provinces for the entire year as compiled from customs entries by the External Trade Section of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Special Notice:

In addition to the usual revisions resulting from adjustments advised by respondents during the year, the data in the present report reflect revisions due to the implementation of a new procedure adopted in 1962 for the treatment of Natural Gas Liquids - see January, 1962 issue of Refined Petroleum Products, Catalogue No. 45-004 for details. As of January, 1962 supplementing volumes of Natural Gas Liquids reported by natural gas processing plants operated by companies other than those classed as refiners are being shown separately rather than being introduced into the tabulations for Raw Materials Supply and Finished Products as was the practice prior to January, 1962. Under these circumstances figures presented on a monthly basis in 1961 would not be comparable with those being produced in 1962. In order to overcome this lack of comparability the 1961 data has been completely revised to conform as nearly as possible with the new procedure adopted for the treatment of Natural Gas Liquids in effect as of January, 1962 - see Page 4 of this report.

A further adjustment in the figures presented in this report takes into account the treatment of imports. During 1961, residual volumes of imports included in the "Imports (adjusted)" line of Table 3. Refined Petroleum Products, that is to say, those volumes of product over and above those accounted for by non-respondents reflected a two months' lag due to the unavailability of the imports data. In the preparation of the revised figures for the imports line in the Finished Products section of this report the two months lag was eliminated so that imports by respondents and supplementary or residual imports by non-respondents are on a concurrent basis for each month. This will result in a more comparable series of figures in this area as, in effect, the procedure adopted in January, 1962 tends also to eliminate the two months lag which obtained during 1961 - see January, 1962 issue Refined Petroleum Products, Catalogue No. 45-004 for details.

This publication consolidates the monthly issues of "Refined Petroleum Products", revised where applicable, and the comparable cumulative totals for 1962. It should be noted that, for certain items, data in the 1962 report will not be strictly comparable with those of previous years due to the implementation of the following changes in concept:

1. Sales of Natural Gas Liquids by Natural Gas Processing Plants:

A new procedure was adopted at the beginning of 1962 for reporting Natural Gas Liquids - see the January 1962 issue of the Refined Petroleum Products bulletin, Catalogue No. 45-004, for details. Sales of Natural Gas Liquids reported by natural gas processing plants operated by companies other than those classed as refiners are shown separately in Table 5 rather than included in the tabulations for Raw Materials Supply and Finished Products in Tables 2 and 3 as was the practice prior to January 1962.

2. Imports:

Prior to January 1962, 'Imports' represented imports for the current month as reported by respondent refiners and distributors plus an adjustment calculated to allow for imports of products by non-reporting firms. Commencing with January 1962, this adjustment was replaced by a canvass of major importers not previously surveyed. Although this new procedure now accounts for almost a complete overall coverage of imports of petroleum products on an annual basis, the extent to which imports of individual products are covered varies between provinces and from month to month.

3. Net Transfers - Inter-provincial:

With the increased interest in the gross, rather than net, flow of product, a change was instituted whereby product movement is reported on a gross basis. The flow is now accommodated by the use of two categories-

Transfers In

Transfers Out

instead of Net Transfers.

4. Crude Oil:

In June 1962 the method of reporting Crude Oil receipts was changed to include condensate and natural gasoline in Crude Oil Received and Raw Materials Supply, Tables 1 and 2. This change in concept has been applied to the January - May period as well, placing the entire year on a comparable basis.

ERRATA

It should be noted that some comparable 1962 figures for Table 1 on pages 4 and 16 and Table 2 on page 149 were incorrect in the original release of the Annual Refined Petroleum Products publication for 1963. Corrected amounts are as follows:

1. Supply and Disposition of Crude Oil and Equivalent, by Source:

This table published monthly in the "Refined Petroleum Products" publication during 1963, has not been included in this annual. It is now carried monthly in the companion publication "Crude Petroleum and Natural Gas Production", Catalogue No. 26-006.

2. Imports of Petroleum Products, Canada:

The discrepancy between imports contained in Table 3 and imports in Table 4, which are compiled from custom's entries by the External Trade Division, is due in part to timeliness.

The influencing factors are:

- (a) External Trade Division's monthly cut off date in their preparation of their material is the 25th of the month for documents received at the Bureau, while the imports in Table 3 are for the calendar month.
- (b) Whereas the refiners may use invoices for imported products in the month the invoices are received, the product may be held in bond at the port facilities until admitted through customs at a later date.

SYMBOLS

The interpretation of the symbols used in the tables throughout this publication is as follows:

NOTES

1. Supply and Disposition of Crude Oil and Equivalent, by Source:

This table published monthly in the "Refined Petroleum Products" publication during 1963, has not been included in this annual. It is now carried monthly in the companion publication "Crude Petroleum and Natural Gas Production", Catalogue No. 26-006.

2. Imports of Petroleum Products, Canada:

The discrepancy between imports contained in Table 3 and imports in Table 4, which are compiled from custom's entries by the External Trade Division, is due in part to timeliness.

The influencing factors are:

- (a) External Trade Division's monthly cut off date in the preparation of their material is the 25th of the month for documents received at the Bureau, while the imports in Table 3 are for the calendar month.
- (b) Whereas the refiners may use invoices for imported products in the month the invoices are received, the product may be held in bond at the port facilities until admitted through customs at a later date.

3. Due to a change in concept, the propane, butanes and propane/butanes mixes supply and disposition pages of this publication have been modified. The major revision has been the inclusion of the entire supply and disposition of gas processing plants and of storage cavern operations.

"Receipts in Canada from gas processing plants" now reflects total plant production in the provinces of Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

"Inventories - Opening" and "Closing" now include inventories held at gas plants and in storage caverns.

"Net sales in Canada" now include deliveries of butane commingled in the crude stream in the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta. The actual amounts appear at the end of each monthly table.

SYMBOLS

The interpretation of the symbols used in the tables throughout this publication is as follows:

NOTES

1. Propane and propane mixes and Butane and butane mixes:

Due to a change in concept, the "Propane, butane and propane butane mixes" supply and disposition table as published in 1964 has been separated into two individual product categories as underlined above.

In addition, a revised method of compilation has been used to produce the published figures contained in these tables.

With the exception of "Receipts in Canada from gas processing plants", "Transfers-Inter-product", "Domestic disappearance" and "Net sales in Canada" these figures represent refinery production and disposition only. With regard to the above mentioned lines, data received from the British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan governments has been incorporated with that reported by the refiners.

2. Imports of petroleum products, Canada:

The discrepancy between the import figures in Table 3 and those contained in Table 4, (which are compiled from custom's entries by the External Trade Division of the Bureau of Statistics), is due in part to timeliness.

The influencing factors are:

- (a) The External Trade Division's monthly "cut off" date in the preparation of their material is the 25th of the reporting month while the import data in Table 3 is compiled on a calendar month basis.
- (b) The refiners responding to the Industry Division survey may base their reported imports on invoices received in a particular month, when in fact the product may be held in bond at the port facilities and only admitted through customs at a later date.

3. Companion publications

Following is a list of related publications which may be of benefit to the reader. Requests for copies of any of these should be addressed to Publications Distribution, Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Ottawa.
